INTRODUCTION

Data Source

This directory is an attempt to list all the manufacturing businesses in the Thompson-Okanagan Development Region. The original source of information for this directory was the British Columbia Manufacturers' Directory. This was supplemented by a four-month research project, and the efforts of the region's Economic Development Officers, Chambers of Commerce, and community administrative offices. However, this list of manufacturers is by no means complete. Continuous efforts will be made to expand the list of regional manufacturers for the ongoing edition of this publication.

Product Codes

As in the British Columbia Manufacturers' Directory, the product codes in this directory are defined according to the product coding used by the federal government for trade and manufacturing statistics.

Information Access

This directory is maintained through the efforts of the Ministry of Regional and Economic Development staff and the region's Economic Development Officers, in conjunction with the Planning and Statistics Division, Ministry of Finance and Corporate Relations. The office of the Ministry of Regional and Economic Development in Vernon maintains a complete computer data base for the region and coordinates data collection with the British Columbia Manufacturers' Directory. For detailed information on individual companies, contact the Economic Development Officer in the area. A list of Economic Development Officers appears on page x.

MESSAGE FROM THE MINISTER

I am pleased to release the second edition of the Thompson-Okanagan Development Region Manufacturers' Directory.

The first edition was very well received and raised the profile of regional manufacturers throughout British Columbia, as well as internationally. As a value-added industry, manufacturing plays a vital role in the region's economy. This sector is leading the Thompson-Okanagan into the 90's by fostering both significant employment opportunities and long term economic expansion and diversification.

In order to ensure that this publication continues to serve its readers, we encourage you to forward your comments and suggestions on this directory to the Ministry of Regional and Economic Development.

Bud Smith

Honourable Bud Smith, Q.C.
Minister of Regional and Economic Development

THE THOMPSON-OKANAGAN DEVELOPMENT REGION —A MANUFACTURING CENTRE—

Over 1,000 regional manufacturers, employing over 20,000 people, are currently active in the Thompson-Okanagan Development Region. All parts of the region contribute to this vital economic sector with the major manufacturing centres, representing the widest range of manufacturing activity, being located in Kamloops, Kelowna, Vernon, Penticton and Salmon Arm.

A major contributor to the region's success in manufacturing is its modern and extensive transportation infrastructure that provides year-round access to the Lower Mainland of the province and to Alberta and Washington State. The region is served by two major airlines offering frequent daily flights. The region's highway system is currently being upgraded and will offer access to Vancouver from major regional centres in three or four hours driving time. Main and branch line railways serve much of the region.

The region benefits from an experienced work force and overhead costs that are often lower than in similar urban centres. The work force is augmented by experienced workers from other sectors with seasonal employment.

The region has a population of approximately 350,000, with two major urban centres—Kelowna and Kamloops—exceeding 60,000. These centres are enjoying growth in social and cultural activities and amenities that are reflective of the distinct character of the region, which offers outstanding recreational opportunities year-round and is famous for its world class skiing, hiking and boating.

A wealth of natural resources provides a stable economic base for the regional economy and is providing new opportunities in resource-based service and manufacturing industries.

The Thompson-Okanagan Development Region has a great deal to offer both prospective employees and employers. A skilled and highly motivated workforce, an abundance of raw resources, social and cultural amenities and a lifestyle that offers both the excitement of growing urban centres and access to a wide range of outdoor activities, make the region a desirable location for new and expanding industries and businesses.

The government of the Province of British Columbia is committed to encouraging businesses to locate in all regions of the province. A variety of programs and incentives are available to assist companies in the planning and development of regional operations. To find out more about government programs and the Thompson-Okanagan Development Region, contact the Ministry of Regional and Economic Development in Vernon or Victoria.
